EDUCATION

Hampton School, London - Currently about to begin A-Levels (Mathematics, Physics, Computer Science, and French DELF program)

SKILLS

Linguistics

I have a passion for language - speaking C1-level Italian and B2-level French, I achieved a Grade 9 in both Latin GCSE and Italian GCSE a year early and am predicted a grade 9 in Classical Greek GCSE. I will be studying French as part of the DELF program next academic year. A year ago I also underwent a school project in which I constructed a fully comprehensive language (linked here) which won the Headmaster's award jointly with three others.

Music

Playing Grade-8 level drums and Grade-4 level piano, music is one of my favourite things to do. I recently performed in my school's Rock Concert, and have been drumming for the local church since 2021, having started drumming before the COVID pandemic. As a result I am well-versed in band performance and music's theoretical side.

Photography and Videography

As shown above I have always loved being behind a camera, whether capturing stills or forming videos. All of my work I have produced alone, from shot planning to shooting, editing and distributing, having learnt to use industry-standard software such as Adobe Premiere Pro, Photoshop, Lightroom and After Effects. In earlier days I focused on visual effects, and have moved on to freelance promotional work for which I have been paid.

Engineering

A group of friends and I recently participated for the third consecutive year in our school's annual STEM fair, this time winning our category with an AI-powered RC plane. Built from scratch (only excluding the plane's base model, which we then modified in CAD), we constructed a small plane which can drop seeds on fertile soil, using an AI-powered camera and autopilot system to fly itself to where seeds would grow. I was responsible for the seed dispenser's design, mechanism and code, project management, and the auto-stabilisation feature of the autopilot.

Writing

Having written enthusiastically for a while, two years ago I was shortlisted in a national competition with my piece Florentine Skies (linked here). My school releases an annual publication called the Lion Print featuring the school's best writing and art, and my various pieces have regularly featured in them.
